

Patrick Muran

“Our three different vineyard sites have very contrasting profiles both in soil structure and climate. Heart Hill Vineyard is going to be rocky slopes with afternoon breezes cooling off the area. We are going to have some really elegant structure and fruit expression. It's very dense and rich in its profile.

As we go to the east side we are going to be at Bootjack Ranch where it's a little bit warmer with sandier soils. We are going to have nice purity of fruit expression and also a finesse in the tannin element, so this is going to be a very approachable wine earlier.”

Molly Bohlman

“At Jespersen Ranch we focus on cool climate varieties, mostly Burgundian varieties as well as some other cool climate varieties like Syrah, Grenache, Albariño and Sauvignon Blanc.

Jespersen Ranch is perfect for growing Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. Because it is so coastal it gets a lot of nice cooling breezes as well as warm sunshine so it's a good balance of ripeness as well as fresh acidity.”